

We need to protect our democracy by discouraging monopolies in our sources of information. These checks and balances are what guarantee the democratic process.